

Raising Confident Children in a Culture-Conscious World

As parents, we all sign on for the multi-faceted challenge of rearing children who are confident, capable, and compassionate. Parents of racially, and/or culturally diverse children have an additional challenge: to provide their child with a cultural awareness that builds self-esteem, while living in a world where differences are not always appreciated.

In this workshop, parents will learn:

- The ages and stages of racial/cultural awareness in children;
- How to lay the solid foundation of confidence and resilience children need as they navigate non-diverse academic and social settings;
- How to encourage the child's interest in his/her culture and preserve a lifelong connection to it.
